FALLS INTO DEATH'S ARMS.

Emmett Gregory Plunges Thirty Feet Over Trestle Friday Night--Was Almost Home.

FUNERAL HELD SUNDAY.

One of the most distressing accidents that ever happened in Cloverport occurred Friday night when Emmett Gregory stepped from the west bound L. H. & St. L. Passenger train at 11 o'clock and fell over a trestle thirty feet to the ground. He died at five o'clock Saturday morning.

The train was approaching the station and had whistled when an air brake pipe burst and the train stopped on the trestle over Skillman's branch a few yards from the station.

Mr. Gregory, thinking the train was near enough the station for him to get off, stepped from the train and fell into the branch. A passenger saw him fall. Immediately men went to his rescue and soon he was taken to the infirmary of his uncle, Dr. A. A. Simons.

The deceased was thirty-two years of age. He was born and reared in Cloverport. He leaves a wife and three children. Mrs. Gregory was Miss Mary LaHeist of this city. He was the son of Mrs. Lucy Gregory, who was expecting him home from Louisville. Of late Mr. Gregory and his family have been living in New Albany, Ind., but recently had accepted a position in Louisville.

The word of his death was sent to his wife and children at once and they with her father, Mr. Albert LaHeist, arrived here Saturday morning. The funeral was held from the mother's home Sunday afternoon. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Dillon and the interment took place in the Cloverport cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gregory and daughter, Miss Dorothy Gregory, of Brandenburg, attended the funeral.

ANOTHER APPEAL

To Sunday Schools Of Breckenridge County--Supt. Henderson Anxious For Response For All.

We again call the attention of Sunday school workers to the finances of the association. It is generally known that Breckenridge county's part is $125. We have paid in $100 and have in cash and pledges about $5.

We called a meeting of the committee of the association, and the same means to raise the balance but a majority of them did not find it convenient to attend, so we failed in a measure to do what we desired to do. We had with us by invitation, though not members of the committee, two of our efficient and faithful workers, Mr. Brundage and Mrs. Parks, who encouraged us very much by their presence and counsel. We will not enter into an argument as to the merits of the cause but will ask your officers to appeal to you to help us meet our obligation. We do not believe you are willing for Breckenridge county to fall out of the banner list. She stands now in the forefront of only a few counties that have large gifts, are ahead of her.

Trusting to receive prompt responses to this appeal from your president and secretary who are anxious to serve you and forward on the cause.

T. B. Henderson,
Ora B. Hendricks.

Card of Thanks.

We wish all our friends to know that we are deeply grateful for the practical help, the loving kindness and tender sympathy extended to us in our time of sorrow.

PARRISH MUST SERVE FIVE YEARS

In The Penitentiary--Decision Of Hancock Court Affirmed

Judge Carroll Writes Opinion Of Court.

WILL GO TO EDDYVILLE.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 9.—The court of appeals today decided that James H. Parrish must serve five years in the penitentiary for wrecking the Owensboro Savings Bank and Trust company, of which he was president.

The case was before the court on appeal from Hancock circuit court, where it was tried on a change of venue. Judge Carroll wrote the opinion of the court. Judges Hobson and Barker dissented.

Judge Hobson filed a dissenting opinion in the case.

"The case was indicted for assaulting in the receiving of a deposit by the bank after he had knowledge of its insolvency.

The testimony in the trial disclosed that all the assets and property of the bank when converted into money would not pay its depositors more than fifteen cents on the dollar and that it was hopelessly insolvent when the deposit was received.

"When Parrish received the news he was in jail at Hawesville and had the following to say:

"That news, if it be true, will change nothing. But I cannot understand it. I expected to hear directly, first, from Frankfort through my attorney, E. E. Kelly, here. I am not guilty. I am not even technically guilty. I did not know my bank was insolvent. That bank was my own offspring. I believed in it. I loved it. I could not believe it insolvent and it was not insolvent until its enemies conspired against it and had its five $65,000 building sold for $23,000, and my and my other fine properties sacrificed for the most nothing. I still believe that the will of God is in this whole matter and that it will come out right."

Mr. Parrish at once sent for Mrs. Parrish, who soon came to him.

VALUE OF CONCRETE

Roads Constructed of This Material Very Serviceable.

DURABLE FOR HEAVY TRAFFIC

They Can Be Maintained at a Considerably Low Cost—Freedom From Dust and Mud a Good Feature—Experience in Michigan.

In a paper read before the annual good roads convention, held recently at Cleveland, O., Edward N. Hines, chairman of the board of Wayne county road commissioners, expressed his views regarding concrete roads in the following manner:

Concrete roads would meet the ideal conditions of road building because of comparatively low first cost, durability, low maintenance cost, ease of traction and freedom from dust and mud.

The value of concrete roads was shown in a recent experiment near Detroit, Mich., where a road was made of concrete, with shoulders on each side of the road, and with a width of twenty-six feet over all at the narrowest point.

The material specified was drilled, it being the invention of the French

A WELL-BUILT CONCRETE ROAD. From Good Roads Magazine, New York. To do the necessary grading, filling, ditching, putting in of manholes, leveling shoulders and, in fact, doing all the work but the actual concreting.

Ninety-eight feet a barrel was paid for cement and 75 cents a yard for sand, and the prices of limestone and crushed cobble are shown in the specification. The average haul was about two miles. Two thicknesses of three ply tar paper were used in the three twenty-five foot sections, the fourth section being under half an inch wide and filled with a composition of four parts soft pitch to one part Trinidad asphalt, to which was added 3 per cent of salt wax, the whole heated and poured into the joint in a boiling state. A strip of southern pine was also used as an experimental joint.

The following specifications are those under which such a road can be constructed:

All cement used should be portland cement of American manufacture. No more than 8 per cent of cement should fail to pass through a No. 100 sieve nor more than 25 per cent should pass through a No. 20 sieve, and it should stand a test of 150 pounds per square inch tensile strain when made into briquets and exposed in air until final set and the balance of twenty-four hours immersed in water, one day in air and six days in water should show a tensile strength of at least 60 pounds. One day in air and twenty-seven days in water should show a tensile strength of at least 60 pounds, and when mixed in proportions by weight of one of cement to three of sand and exposed in air one day and in water six days it should stand a tensile strain of at least 100 pounds and in twenty-eight days a strain of at least 200 pounds per square inch.

Sand used in making concrete should be clean, dry, crushed quartz, trap or river sand, passing a No. 30 sieve of No. 28 sieve, and be so graded that it will fill and coarse particles of the same grade of material, the coarse particles of gravel or limestone. Concrete can be purchased at the following prices per ton, which prices represent the actual cost of the stone laid down: Two inch, 8.25 per ton; chips, 11.25 per ton; screenings, 12 per ton. In case of stone, the actual cost should be computed by measurement on the basis of 40 cubic feet per cubic yard for the inch stone, 2.50 pounds per cubic yard for chips and 2.50 pounds per cubic yard for screenings.

Concrete for the first course should consist of one part of cement, two parts of sand and five parts of broken limestone and for the second course one part of cement, two parts of sand and three parts of hard stone, evenly mixed.

In placing the concrete in position in the construction of the pavement the men should place the concrete in a neat and so as to keep the different layers of a uniform thickness. Each layer should be well tamped with an approved tamper and as directed by the engineer.

The second course must be laid within twenty minutes after the first course is completed and placed and tamped same as the first course. And at night or at any other time when the work is discontinued all the work of both layers should be completed up to a common exposure joint.

After the second course of concrete is laid, the surface should be finished and should be protected from the sun by a canvas or other suitable covering. When the concrete is sufficiently hard in weather, the covering should be removed and the surface covered with a layer of sand or gravel about one inch in depth and the surface of the concrete from drying out too rapidly, which covering should be left on the concrete for a period of six days.

Expansion joints should be placed in said pavement every twenty-five feet by actual measurement, such joints to be made by placing in position a one-inch inch thick strip of wood (southern pine) of the same width as the thickness of the road metal and cut so as to conform to the width of the concrete. After the concrete has been set, the joint to be made by placing in position a one-inch inch thick strip of wood (southern pine) of the same width as the thickness of the road metal and cut so as to conform to the width of the concrete. After the concrete has been set, the joint to be made by placing in position a one-inch inch thick strip of wood (southern pine) of the same width as the thickness of the road metal and cut so as to conform to the width of the concrete.

An Ancient Mountain Race.

The most ancient people still living in the mountains of India are the Todas. Long before the arrival of the other tribes of the region the Todas were the kings of this country, which they held in common without strife or treachery to one another. The Todas are a fine race, tall, well proportioned and with regular features. Their complexion is of a light brown, and their eyes are bright and intelligent. The men wear a linen or cotton garment that resembles a European of the Roman toga. Their bearing is proud and dignified; their countenances are pleasing; their hair straight, hair is regularly cut and well kept. Their superior appearance, the mystery that surrounds them and the obscurity of their origin have caused certain students of ethnology to suppose that the Todas are descended from the soldiers of Darius or Alexander, the ancient conquerors of India.

DEAD AFTER TEN YEARS

Mrs. Mary Jarboe, widow of Billy Jarboe, died at the home of her sister Mrs. Dempsey Basham, near Patoka, Sunday at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Jarboe is supposed to have been about 100 years old. Indeed, there are those of her neighbors who believe her to be above that age. Her dissolution was brought about as a result of senile decay. The remains were buried at the family graveyard near-by on Monday.

Mrs. Jarboe was a most excellent Christian lady and leaves the following children: George Jarboe, and Mrs. Susan Smith, of Owensboro, and Messrs. Dave, Martin and Nat Jarboe, Mrs. David Nix and Mrs. Dempsey Basham, of the county.—HARRIS Clarion.

CHRISTMAS TURKEY SALE.

A Fine Money Making Scheme For Church Fair.

One feature of a fair held just before last Christmas was a turkey sale, which, owing to the originality of the idea and the very popular prices, made a very great hit financially and proved an attraction in addition to its money making. An entire booth was given up to the fowls, which were represented in every phase of turkey existence, from strutting the turkey in full feather to roasted upon a platter. Over the booth swung a placard reading:

CHRISTMAS TURKEYS
5 cents each.
Purchaser of Lucky Turkey Wins a Christmas Dinner.

Needless to say, the twenty-five cent fowls were the pastebird in turkey form and filled with candy. In one of them, known only to the person who filled them, was tucked away an order for a real turkey to be delivered on Christmas eve by a neighborhood purveyor. This was contributed by the dealer, who took this means of participating in the good work of his church.

The little turkeys sold almost as rapidly as they could be wrapped up.

Bought in wholesale, the pastebird fowls cost but 5 cents. The candy each contained, being of excellent quality, cost 10 cents. This also was bought at greatly reduced rates on account of the quantity. Selling at a quarter of a dollar apiece, there was a clear profit of 10 cents on each bird, while the purchasers, contrary to the usual rule at fairs, received full worth of their money.

THE KING'S ORDER.

It Was Obeyed, and Yet the Monarch Was Not Happy.

When King Gustavus III, of Sweden was in Paris he was visited by a delegation of the Serbians. That learned body congratulated the king on the happy fortune which had given him so great a man as Scheele, the discoverer of manganese, as his subject and fellow countryman.

The king was too kind to interest in the progress of science, felt somewhat ashamed that he should be so ignorant as never even to have heard of the renowned chemist. He dispatched a courier at once to Sweden with the laconic order, "Scheele is to be immediately raised to the dignity and title of a count."

"His majesty must be obeyed," said the prime minister as he read the order, "but who in the world is Scheele?"

He came back to the premier with very full information. "Scheele is a good sort of fellow," said he, "a lieutenant in the artillery, a capital shot and a first rate hand at billiards." The next day the lieutenant became a count, and the illustrious scholar and scientist remained a simple lieutenant.

The error was not discovered until the king returned home. His majesty was indignant. "You must not be fooled," he exclaimed, "not to know who Scheele is!" Argument.

Weighing Social.

The most amusing entertainment given in Columbus for many moons was pulled off at the court-house last Thursday evening, under the management of the ladies and society of the Methodist Church. The procedure was out of the ordinary. All who entered had to be weighed at the door, the weight of each person being divided by eight and the result was the amount to be paid. In this way the entrance fee run from 5 cents to 50 cents, and the fee entitled you to refreshments. Nearly every family in town was represented, the occasion being highly enjoyable.

A prize was offered to the person who would guess the closest to the

Read the Christmas ads. They are better than any editorials we can write this week.

Letter From Rev. Currie.

Dear Mrs. Bishage:—Enclosed you will find one dollar for The Breckenridge News for another year. After reading your good paper for the last 4 years, and after being with the good people of Cloverport so long, I cannot afford to be without your paper. I often think of you all and wish to cherish the memory of you all. I am glad to hear that Bro. Dillon is so well liked. Hope this year and all the future may bring many blessings to all the friends of Cloverport, and that even those who considered me as their enemy may yet be awakened to righteousness and see that I only sought to reclaim them from the power of evil. With best wishes for you all and hoping you all a Merry Christmas I am as ever,

Your Friend,
B. M. Currie.

Attention Methodist.

War has been declared against the devil, but the resistance has not been great enough to put to flight his mobilized army. Let us save the children of Cloverport from wreck and ruin. It can be done in the Sunday school God's appointed place.

Let us have one hundred men and women volunteer for this work of God, in defence of the little children and the church of tomorrow.
Let us train our guns on the walls of indifference. Forward march.
Let all those who are not identified with other churches fall in line.
G. P. Dillon, Pastor.

LUNG HEMORRHAGES

(I TOOK PE-RU-NA.)

MISS NINETTE PORTER.
Miss Ninette Porter, Brainerd, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me. I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it. I wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He kindly gave me free advice."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

A Bad Cough.

Mrs. Emma Martin, Odessa, Mo., writes: "I cannot thank you enough for curing me."

"For two years I doctored my cough, which cost me many dollars, but still I seemed to get worse. My cough was so bad I could not sleep."

"Finally I purchased a bottle of Peruna. After the use of six bottles I feel that I am cured."

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.

Two Happy Grand-fathers.

There is much rejoicing in the Plauk and Behen families over the arrival of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Behen last Thursday afternoon. The boy will be christened David Marion Behen for his two grand-fathers, P. H. Plauk and M. Behen.

Is There A Santa Claus?

No Santa Claus? Yes, my little man, there is a Santa Claus, thank God! The world would indeed be poor without one. It is true that he does not always wear a white beard and drive a reindeer team—not always, you know—but what does it matter? He is Santa Claus with the big, loving, Christmas heart, for all that; Santa Claus with the kind thoughts for every one that makes children and grown-up people beam with happiness all day long.

And shall I tell you a secret which I did not learn at the post-office, but it is true all the time—of how you can always be sure your letters go to him straight by the chimney route? It is this: send along with them a friendly thought for the boy, you don't like; for

Oil Heat

Without Smoke

No matter how sensitive your olfactory nerves may be, or under what working conditions you encounter the

PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

you'll not detect the slightest odor of smoke.

The Perfection Oil Heater neither smokes nor diffuses odor. The new positively prevents both. Repeated tests during its incipency and development, innumerable trials after it had been pronounced perfect by the inventor, demonstrated its utility and sure effectiveness.

Automatic Smokeless Device

The wick cannot be turned up beyond the point of its greatest effectiveness. It locks automatically and thus secures the greatest heat-yielding flame without a sign of smoke or smell. Removed in an instant for cleaning. Solid brass font holds 4 quarts of oil—sufficient to give out a glowing heat for 9 hours—solid brass wick carriers—dampener top—cool handle—oil indicator. Heater beautifully finished in nickel or Japan in a variety of styles.

Every Dealer Everywhere. If Not At Yours, Write for Descriptive Circular to the Nearest Agency of the

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(Incorporated)

Jack who punched you, or Jim who was mean to you. The meaner he was the harder do you resolve to make it up to him to bear him a grudge. That is the spirit of the letter to Santa. Nobody can stop it, not even a cross-draught in the chimney, when it has that on.

Because—don't you know, Santa Claus is the spirit of Christmas; and ever and ever so many years ago when the dear little Italy was born after whom we call Christmas, and was cradled in the manger out in the stable because there was not room in the inn, that Spirit came into the world to soften the hearts of men and make them love one another. Therefore, that is the mark of the Spirit to this day. Don't let anybody or anything rub it out. Then the rest doesn't matter. Let them tear Santa's white beard off the Sunday school festival and growl in his backskin coat. These are only his disguises. The steps of the real Santa Claus you can trace all the rough the world as you have done here with me, and when you stand in the last of his tracks you will find the Blessed Babe of Bethlehem smiling a welcome to you. For then you will be home.—Jacob A. Killa.—In Dumb Animals.

HOME ENDORSEMENT.
Hundreds of Cloverport Citizens
Can Tell You All About It.
Home endorsement, the public expression of Cloverport people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Cloverport reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:
Price Graham, Railroad St., Cloverport, Ky., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a remedy that will live up to representations. For four years I suffered from disordered kidneys and the secretions were much too frequent in passage forcing me to rise several times during the night. Whenever I caught cold, it was sure to settle in my kidneys and greatly aggravate my trouble. My back ached severely and when I stood, I was seized by sharp twinges through my loins. The ache in my back at night greatly disturbed my rest and in the morning I rose feeling lame and sore. I was very nervous, the slightest work tired me and I often felt dull and languid. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Fisher's drug store, relieved me. In a short time and it required but the contents of four boxes to effect a complete cure. I can state that this cure has proven to be a permanent one and it gives me pleasure to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all others afflicted in a similar manner."

Graft in the Household.

The tipping system has become acute now that graft is boldly recognized as "business," and the world has no shame for the majority of workers in the vineyard. A charming young matron exclaimed the other day that graft had even invaded her household. She was asked how that was possible and replied, "I have discovered that my most trusted and faithful maid has been approached by some one who shall be named to advise the cook, who is another treasure, to leave me." "But she did not?" "Yes, she did," said the young matron, laughing. "Yes, she did, and I don't blame her for the price. My nice Julia was paid $20 to sell me out, and the cook's wages are about double what I can pay." "A case of bribery," was the philosophic response. —Boston Herald.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

The Benefit of the Doubt.
"Horrible! I know—hey, there! What are you jangling that man for? Man on Top—He says he can't remember whether he ever called me a liar or not. I'm off giving him (him) the benefit of the doubt." —Chicago Tribune.

The Producer.
"Does your husband play cards for money?"
"Judging from practical results," answered young Mrs. Perkins, "I should say not. But all the other men in the game do." —Washington Star.

The man who loves home best and loves it most unselfishly loves his country best.—J. G. Holland.

Electric Bitters

Succeed where everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weakness they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified. FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

Why We Laugh.

Laughter seems to be a specialized form of either the scream of a startled or injured animal or the cry of triumph common to many beasts of prey. In children the cry of terror and the shout of laughter often shade into each other, and the young child escaping from pursuit will scream with laughter or fear, according to his chances of escape. Some unexpected event that causes slight alarm, short of actual terror is the commonest cause of children's laughter, but in adults some sudden event that gives a sensation of triumph over others has much more influence. Really clever jokes seldom cause laughter, and it has been pointed out that a man chasing his hat will produce laughter far more hearty in character than the best efforts of the cleverest wit. The slight of ill fortune in another causes by contrast a feeling of triumph in ourselves. The ticklish parts of the body are for the most part the sites of important blood vessels, and the laughter produced in children by tickling is even more closely allied to the cry of pain.

Hampering President Lebus.

We do not suppose that anybody will be silly enough to believe that the action in the Clark county circuit court to have receivers appointed for the fund left over from the 1907 tobacco crop would have ever been instituted had not the Hurley Society thought it best to remove its headquarters to Lexington. The whole blame for the removal is placed on President Clarence Lebus and the fight is centered on him, when the fact is he could not have removed them except by the vote of the trustees. Mr. Lebus has done more for the tobacco raisers than any man in Kentucky and he would never have been hampered in his good work but for the removal of the headquarters which Winchester and Clark county seem to think is theirs by divine right. Personally we have no interest in the matter except that we like to see fair play prevail and it is hoped that the county boards, as suggested by Commissioner Rankin, will express themselves so emphatically on the question of the disposition of the reserve fund that the matter will be settled and the case withdrawn from the courts, with the occupation of the receivers gone. There seems to be necessity for the society having to decide up with receivers when all the money is needed to fight the rapacious American Tobacco Company.

Mr. Lebus is a man of great resources and has never failed in any of his undertakings. Besides, he is surrounded by a cabinet of tried and true men who regard more the interest of the society than they do any supposed claims upon them that Winchester may have. Knowing this, we are confident that Mr. Lebus will come out more than conqueror in the end. If he fails, we, in common with his many friends, will be greatly disappointed.—Lexington Gazette.

What Mr. Franks Did.

Mr. Frank was collector of Internal revenue in the Owensboro district a little over 13 years. Some Republicans said he would never get the place at all; that he was incompetent for gauger, much less collector. However, before his first forty-year term had expired there were some who made remarks of that kind that were begging him for a job. He held the office longer than anybody else has ever held it. All this goes to prove that the old story about throwing blicks at the country dog when he comes to town because he got the best of some town dog isn't the proper thing to do, because the country dog may get you in a corner some day and make you climb a wall like a cat. Mr. Franks has had the fun of making some of his enemies in his own party climb a tree, and those who couldn't get out of the way have asked him not to pulverize them beyond recognition. Mr. Franks retires from the office of collector with several Republican scalps dangling from his belt. His party is also down and out in Owensboro, and it is up to some other party boss to pull it out of the hole, while Mr. Franks keeps one eye on the United States National bank and the other on the next Republican gubernatorial nomination.—Owensboro Enquirer.

Graet National Problem.

One need not share J. I. Hill's gloomy view that "high cost of living is the beginning of every national decline" to agree with him that it is now acute and here in America a great and grave national issue.

There is no question as to the facts. Bradstreet's "index figure" of commodity prices shows an average rise of 56 per cent in thirteen years in the price of the necessities of life. Rent has in many cases risen in even greater ratio. Wages have generally risen not nearly so much.

We must wait for the 1910 census to show how the workingman now shares the dilation of his product, but already in 1900 the wage fund in manufacturing was shown to be growing only half as fast as capital, and only one-third as fast as miscellaneous expenses.

In 1890 the workingman, clerk or professional toiler could buy more food, shelter, clothing and other necessities and comforts with his wages, salary or fees than at any time since the civil war. Today the man of moderate means can buy less than in 1890. For him the wheels of progress have turned backward and he is deeply dissatisfied. He is ready to wreak political vengeance upon whatever or whoever is responsible.—New York World.

Kentucky School Teachers and Normal Training.

Present and prospective teachers of Breckenridge and adjoining counties are invited to consider the new Normal Department of Kingswood College.

Special up-to-date normal training is offered here under particularly favorable environments.

Normal students have advantages of good musical instructions, good Literary Societies, and the inspiration and stimulus of advanced college associations; and, in addition, will be allowed one or more studies in the collegiate department—free of charge.

Our second term begins January 1, 1910. Much of this term will be devoted to the preparation of teachers for practical work in the common schools.

The principal of this department seeks to find out wherein each pupil is deficient, then to supply the needed help.

Persons who do well the normal work at Kingswood, may expect to pass in the county and state examinations, and to succeed in the profession of teaching.

We do no cramming here, but good, honest and thoro work. Tuition in this department ($30), twenty dollars per term.
